Re: Notice of Proposed Rulemaking on the Rural Health Care Program – WC Docket No. 17-310

Dear Chairman Pai and FCC Commissioners:

The Canby Family Practice Clinic appreciates the opportunity to respond to the FCC's Notice of Proposed Rulemaking on the Rural Health Care Program, WC Docket No. 17-310.

The Canby Family Practice Clinic is a Rural Health Clinic. RHC's are part of the backbone of the rural "health care safety net", and Congress explicitly indicated that they are intended to benefit from the Rural Health Care Program. In recent years, RHC's have become increasingly concerned that the RHCP has expanded beyond its original intent, to include providers who should not be eligible under a "plain reading" of the statute. As a result, RHC's have been subject to across-the-board funding reductions, and significant administrative complexities that have made it difficult for them to participate in the program that was designed for them. For this reason, we are pleased that the FCC is reexamining the program's structure, and offers the following comments:

Funding cap:

- The FCC should raise the $400 million cap for FY16-17 and FY17-18, to reflect recent expansions of the program, and to avoid penalizing providers whom Congress explicitly intended to support.
- Whenever possible, the operational aspects of the RHCP should be aligned with the E-Rate program, including by using GDP-CPI to update the funding cap annually.
- In future years, the funding cap should be to reflect inflation, eligibility expansions, and changes in costs resulting from advances in technology.
- All unused RHCP funding from previous funding years should be made available in subsequent funding years until fully disbursed.

Prioritization of funding requests:

- The current proration approach is inappropriate as it implies that all providers and expenses are of equal merit, despite the fact that some providers are of questionable eligibility and seek a disproportionate share of total RHCP funding.
- The most appropriate prioritization approach is to fully fund requests from individual providers who are clearly eligible under a plain reading of the statute – namely, “public or non-profit” providers who actually “serve(s) persons who reside in rural areas”.
- If a second-tier prioritization approach is needed, the FCC should use scores for rural Health Professional Shortage Areas (HPSA), as calculated by the Federal Department of Health and Human Services.
- The definition of “rural” currently used in E-Rate should be applied to the RHCP.
- Medicaid eligibility is not an appropriate measure of either economic need or the need for health services.

Urban-Rural Consortia:

- Well-intentioned efforts to encourage rural-urban consortia have often not achieved the intended benefits.
- At the same time, they have resulted in increased administrative burdens, and diverted RHCP funds from RHC’s (and other eligible providers) to providers whose eligibility is inconsistent with a plain reading of the statute.
- The Canby Family Practice Clinic strongly supports efforts to ensure that the vast majority of RHCP funds are directed to provider organizations who actually treat patients who reside in rural areas. This will require significantly tightening the rules on urban-rural consortia.

Administrative Burden:

- The administrative burden of applying for and participating in the RHCP is becoming unsustainable for many small, rural RHCs.
- NACHC strongly supports efforts to simplify the application and funding process so that it no longer disadvantages and discourages small providers from participating
